The latest and greatest gluten-free home baked cookies

If you're looking for delicious, warm from the oven, gluten-free cookies go to the freezer case and find Glutenfreeda's Real Cookies. From chewy snickerdoodles and sugar cookies to chocolatey-peanut butter cookies, they have an entire range that are easy to bake quickly. I highly recommend searching these out. If you're in the baltimore area, check out: The Natural in Timonium or Roots Market in Olney.

If you want to order online check out their website.

HOME

welcome.

A brief tour: Along the right-hand side, there are a number of different things: links to restaurants & stores that offer gluten-free foods, sponsored links, a guestbook, and more. Take a look around. I believe you'll find lots of useful information and resources.

I hope you'll find this to be a space where I share updated information about gluten-free living and eating AND where we can share information, so please feel free to comment on posts or email me information you think should be included.

So that's that. Enjoy!
